HERE'S A MONITOR THAT WILL literally bend over backwards for you. The sleekly designed LG Flatron L1980Q ($795) rests on a double-hinged arm that allows you to turn the screen 90 degrees for a portrait view or flip it on its horizontal axis to face the opposite direction. Of course, when you change the LCD's orientation, the monitor automatically reorients the image. Gamers will love the Flatron's 8-millisecond response time—one of the fastest around—and photographers will appreciate its f-ENGINE picture-enhancing chip, which generates vibrant, true-to-life color.
